

CONSTRUCTION MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION

CONSTRUCTION SAFETY AND HEALTH COURSE FOR SITE SAFETY OFFICERS

Course Description:

This comprehensive 40-hour course on Construction Safety and Health (CoSH) Course for Site Safety & Health Officer is accredited by the DOLE-OSHC. It is one of the major requirements by the DOLE for accrediting Safety Practitioner/Consultants and for anyone who wanted to make a career in the area of Safety & Health in construction. It provides participants with an in-depth insights about the various responsibilities of a Safety Officer concerning safety and health program implementation in construction. The course will make participants aware of the requirements of the OSH Standard its rules and regulations as applied to construction. Participants will experience group case study analysis and presentation, actual demo, role play, simulate tool box meeting, hazard analysis, safety inspection, accident investigation, and develop action plan to strengthen their capabilities to become effective safety and health officers.

Course Objectives:

-Formulate, develop, and administer the company Safety Program; Develop safety inspection checklist and conduct safety inspection; Conduct job hazard analysis and create effective recording and reporting system Correct deviation from safety standards

Target Participants: BMC deite